Acknowledgements

This book is based on my dissertation, which was accepted by the Faculty of Arts and Humanities at the University of Würzburg in October 2016. I am particularly grateful for having been able to utilise interview material from the research project on “Social Stratification and Political Culture in Contemporary Urban China”, on which I worked as a research associate. The project was part of the “Governance in China” research network, which was sponsored by the German Federal Ministry of Education and Research from 2010 to 2016.

I would like to especially thank my supervisor Professor Dr Björn Alpermann for his excellent guidance and support throughout my doctorate. I also wish to show my gratitude to the dissertation’s second referee Professor Dr Doris Fischer, as well as to Professor Dr Roland Altenburger and Professor Dr Katja Levy for their advice, which helped me to revise the study. In addition, I would like to thank Dr Baris Selcuk, Birgit Herrmann and all of my other colleagues at the University of Würzburg and within the “Governance in China” research network for their valuable suggestions on my dissertation, which gave me the inspiration to improve my work.

Lastly, I wish to express my gratitude to my family, to whom I dedicate this book: You have supported and encouraged me at all times. Without you, this book would not have been possible.

Bonn, December 20, 2019.
